tekomp Deutschland advocates free and undistorted competition. Therefore, it strongly opposes any distortion of competition by companies or professional associations.

Antitrust Laws prohibit companies – and in particular competing companies – from agreeing or coordinating their market behavior in any way.

Within its capabilities, tekomp Deutschland, as a professional association, shall not provide its members with a forum for illegal and anticompetitive agreements. This applies to the following points in particular

- Agreements to fix prices or price components
- Agreements on delivery and payment terms
- Agreements on allocation of customers or customer groups
- Agreements regarding distribution areas
- Agreements regarding service capacities that are made available to the market
- Bid-rigging regarding prices or terms
- Agreements regarding technical innovations
- Agreements with direct or indirect effects on non-competing parties such as sales agents
- Calls for boycotts or other measures which impede business activities

Antitrust Laws apply to companies as well as professional associations. "Decisions by associations of undertakings" are strictly prohibited. Therefore, it must be stated that the following actions are strictly prohibited within tekomp Deutschland:

- Decisions that demand uniform market behavior from its members.
- Decisions, recommendations, opinions, position papers, press releases, presentations, and trainings that are intended to serve as guidelines for market behavior.
- Decisions, recommendations, opinions, position papers, press releases, presentations and training courses intended or to be understood as guidelines for market behavior.
